What is the Purpose of Social Media?

For consumers, social media can be for entertainment and information. But for businesses, social media is for engagement. It influences potential and existing customers to do something – whether to watch a video, like a page, or ultimately buy a product.

Throughout our Marketing courses, we introduce the Loyalty Loop, which is illustrated below.

Which customers stages in the Loyalty Loop does social media apply to? In other words, what does social media influence your potential or existing customers to do?

Social media influences consumers in the four stages below:

Awareness – _____

Advocate – _____

Bond – _____

Engagement – _____

Value-Driven Content

In our Marketing Content course, we discuss the Amex Rule. This refers to Amex's marketing strategy –

- 80% of the time, it produces non-promotional content; and
- 20% of the time, it produces promotional content.

Only some of your potential customers are actively looking to buy a product or service. But all of your potential customers are seeking value on social media. Content that is value-driven should:

- Solve a problem;
- Answer a question;
- Address concerns;
- Relieve a fear; and/or
- Make life less challenging.

Example of value-driven Facebook post. Notice how they tease only part of the content and remind the follower that they can click the link to view the entire content on their blog:

Applying Customer Personas to Social Media

In our Marketing Strategy course, we developed customer personas.

A customer persona is a description of your ideal customer based on characteristics. Characteristics can include demographics, such as age, income, and education, and psychographics, such as needs, fears, and goals.

Each social media platform attracts a unique demographic audience. You can identify the best platforms to market your business on based on your customer personas.

	Facebook	Instagram	Twitter	Snapchat	LinkedIn
Content	Long form content including videos and copy	Images and short videos	Short text, images, and short videos	Short uncured videos	Long-form content for business audiences specifically
Age	88% of 18–29 84% of 30–49 72% of 50–64 62% of 65+	59% of 18–29 33% of 30–49 18% of 50–64 8% of 65+	36% of 18–29 23% of 30–49 21% of 50–64 10% of 65+	56% of 18–29 13% of 30–49 9% of 50+	34% of 18–29 33% of 30–49 24% of 50–64 20% of 65+
Gender	75% men 83% women	38% men 28% women	24% men 24% women	24% men 23% women	31% men 27% women
Education	79% college 82% some college 77% high school	33% college 37% some college 27% high school	29% college 25% some college 20% high school	33% college 25% some college 28% high school	50% college 27% some college 12% high school

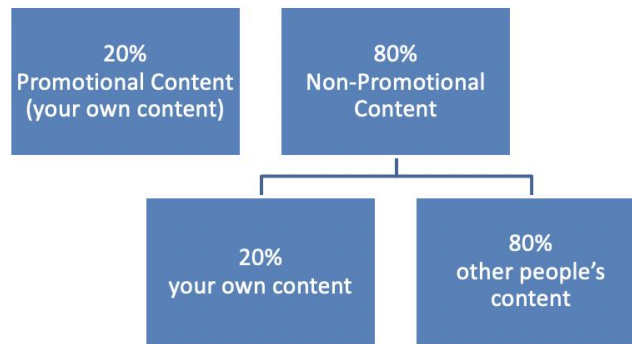

Rank the platforms according to the target customers you are trying to reach:

Social Media Best Practices

- 20% of the time, share promotional content (sales, exclusive access, product feature)
- 80% of the time share helpful, relevant, engaging content (not promotional in nature)
 - 20% of the time, post snippets of your content driving traffic back to your site if possible
 - 80% of the time, you should share other people's content even if it links to their site

1. Organic Posts (not paid)

- Aim to use 3-5 hashtags per post
- Consider the time and day that you post

2. Connect with others in your field

- Find people who share your company's values or interests.
- Comment, like, and share their posts.
- Follow them or add them as friends once you connect.

3. Respond to comments and direct messages.

- When people contact you, reply the same day – even if it is only to say, “Hello, thank you for reaching out. We will follow up with a response soon.”
- You can be brief but be polite.
- Only ignore comments that are clearly irrelevant or illegitimate.

Repurposing Content

In our Marketing Content course, we introduced repurposing content.

This refers to placing the same marketing content on different platforms, according to the format on each. The goal is to drive customers to the content on your website – where they can make purchases.

Social media is an essential avenue for repurposing content. The reason is that social media uses short clips of content, which is exactly what repurposed content is.

Here are some best practices:

- Aim to drive traffic to your website about 20% of the time using your content.
- Tease content using a short snippet or intriguing headline—don't give it all away.
- For platforms that don't allow you to link out (e.g. Instagram), say "link in bio."

Review the three examples in class. Why is their repurposed content Helpful, Relevant, and Engaging?

Create a Business Page on Facebook:

1. Your business name and description
 - a. Name your Page after your business, or another name that people search for to find your business. Use the About section to tell people what your business does.
2. A profile photo and cover photo
 - a. Choose photos that best represent your business. Many businesses choose to use their logo as a profile photo. For the cover photo, choose an image of your store, products, or one from a current marketing campaign.
3. The action you want people to take
 - a. At the top of your Page you can add a call-to-action that directs your Page visitors to do something, like visit your website or call your store. It just takes a few clicks.

Visit Facebook.com/Business and follow the instructions presented by Facebook.

To Create an Ad on Facebook:

1. Choose an objective
 - a. To choose the right ad objective, answer the question “what’s the most important outcome I want from this ad?” It could be sales on your website, downloads of your app or increased brand awareness.
2. Select your audience
 - a. Using what you know about the people you want to reach—like age, location and other details—choose the demographics, interests and behaviors that best represent your audience.
3. Decide where to run your ad
 - a. Next, choose where you want to run your ad—whether that’s on Facebook, Instagram, Messenger, Audience Network, or across them all. In this step, you can also choose to run ads on specific mobile devices.
4. Set your budget
 - a. Enter your daily or lifetime budget and the time period during which you want your ads to run.
5. Pick a format
 - a. Choose from six versatile ad formats—they’re designed to work on every device and connection speed. You can choose to show a single image or video in your ad, or use a roomier, multi-image format.
6. Place your order
 - a. Once you submit your ad, it goes to Facebook’s ad auction which helps get it to the right audience.
7. Measure and manage your ad
 - a. Once your ad is running, you can track performance and edit your campaign in Ads Manager. See if one version of your ad is working better than another, or if your ad is being delivered efficiently, and make tweaks and adjustments as needed.

Visit Facebook.com/Advertising and follow the instructions presented by Facebook to learn more about each step.

Social Media Management Tools

Social media is a constant task. Social media management tools can help. You can schedule a series of posts in advance, so you do not have to remember. And you can use the user data from the tools to assess and improve your social media strategies.

Social Media Management tool might be helpful if:

- You are on three or more social media platforms
- Post one or more times per day

Here are three popular social media management tools:

	Buffer	HootSuite	Sprout Social
Cost	Free up to 3 social accounts with 10 posts per month	Free up to 3 social accounts with 30 posts per month	$99/month
Unique Features	• Schedule posts • Analytics • Image creator	• Schedule posts • Analytics • Monitor competitor profiles	• Schedule posts • Analytics

Key Performance Indicators

Every action in digital marketing is measurable and called metrics. The most important metrics are called Key Performance Indications (KPI).

There are three things you should measure every month, or three KPIs to think about:

- Likes: How many people are actively engaging with your posts
- Comments: What types of comments are people making
- Shares/retweets: How many people are engaging with your business through shares/ retweets

By monitoring your business's KPIs for social media, you can determine:

- The content that your recipients want and will engage with
- When, and how often, to send your post
- Whether customers are clicking your post's CTA and going through to your website
